

THE DAILY NEWS.

TUESDAY, APRIL 21, 1874.
JORDAN STONE, Managing Editor.

ELECTION AUGUST 6th, 1874.

FOR SUPT. OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

COL. STEPHEN D. POOL, OF CRAVEN.

The Daily News is now the only paper in Raleigh that gives every morning the latest markets and other telegraphic reports. The public should note this fact.

The calling a man a "contemptible scallawag" over West is sufficient cause for a duel. The editor of the St. Louis Gazette has been held to account for using this pet name.

The election of Wm. B. WASHBURN as Senator from Massachusetts is recognized as a defeat of the BUTLER ring, though that political thief may yet turn the tide to his advantage. WASHBURN at present fills the gubernatorial chair of Massachusetts.

The New York Tribune deals more heavily blows at Mr. Secretary Richardson—it thinks he knows too little to continue in such an important position, and that if he only has to sign his name without knowing the nature of the documents thus signed, his salary is rather high. Verily, it will be a difficult matter for the Secretary to clear his skirts of the SANBORN swindle.

The Charlotte Observer has enlarged to a twenty-eight column sheet, besides making various typographical improvements. We are glad to note such evidences of prosperity and enterprise on the part of our valued cotemporary. The Observer is one of the best and truest papers in the State, and deserves in every way a hearty and large patronage from an intelligent public.

The U. S. House of Representatives has been considering the question of the President's pay and perquisites, the members indulging in rhetoric about the Old World style of former Presidents and the simplicity of those of later days. The debate drew out the fact that the President's salary and the public cost of maintaining the White House aggregate about $100,000.

We have received the first number of The Newbernian, a new Democratic daily. As its name implies it is published in Newbern. Its publisher and editor, SETH M. CARPENTER, is an experienced newspaper man, and a writer of capacity and force. The character of the number now on our table induces the opinion that Mr. CARPENTER will give his readers a live and spicy paper. We welcome the Newbernian as an able and staunch ally in the present campaign, and wish it all manner of success.

A BILL has been introduced in the General Assembly of Virginia to charter the Capitol Building and State Interest Concert Company. The objects of the Company are exceedingly patriotic: After paying the expenses incident to the giving of the proposed Concerts, one-half of the net proceeds are to be turned over to the Treasurer of the State to be held by him to build a new Capitol and to pay interest on the public debt. The capital stock of the Company is to be not less than $5,000, which may be increased indefinitely, to be divided into shares of $100 each. After a new Capitol building of granite shall have been built, not to exceed in cost $1,500,000, the powers of the Company are to cease.

THE Trans-Atlantic line of the steamers has grown into somewhat bad repute by the continued disasters which have befallen it within the last twelve months. The loss of the Lafayette and the Ville du Havre was followed by a week or so ago by the L'Europe, and now the latter has been succeeded by the L'Amérique, and that after having passed the perils of the ocean, landed at Brest, and was traversing familiar waters to Havre, striking upon one of the channel islands and going down. The two last disasters, fortunately, caused no loss of life save that of an officer of the L'Amérique, but this is not enough to save the line from some blame in the matter, and the traveling public will be careful for awhile about trusting the Trans-Atlantic.

THE reports from the Mississippi and its tributaries show a most distressing state of affairs resulting from the heavy freshet which has continued to grow worst daily for more than a week past. Many levees which have heretofore proved successful barriers have given away, and large sections of country along the whole line of the lower Mississippi have been flooded. The damage sustained is almost incalculable, as it not only creates great immediate distress, but will affect to a great extent the crops this Summer. Thousands of people, both white and black, have been driven from their homes and are without the means of subsistence. The authorities at Washington have interposed relief, and both food and raiment are to be served to the sufferers. The latest advice reports the tributaries to the Mississippi as still rising, and there is no telling what damage may be sustained.

THE Newbern Times (Rad.) charges that the Democratic press of the State are endeavoring to array the colored men against the white men of the Republican party, and regrets to observe that in this movement they are somewhat successful. The Times' Editor must have his eyes closed to things around him, for if he will only look at affairs in his own Congressional District he will find the black man already has had his eyes opened, and is swearing "by the eternal" he will have a finger in the political pie which his own color has to make. No, no, Mr. Times man, the Democratic press need no more than record facts in the case, for it is evident that CURRIE has grown tired of feeding the white Republicans on turkey altogether, while he has to be fed only upon the crumbs that fall from the tables of those pampered whites who have grown so fat since they found out how dear to them was the negro—after he became enfranchised.

THE papers of Richmond and Baltimore are considerably agitated over the proposed change of gauge of the Richmond and Danville Railroad to Greensboro. The Baltimore and Ohio road controls the Orange and Alexandria road, extending to Lynchburg, and the same road will soon have a road completed to Danville from Lynchburg, which would enable them to tap the Piedmont line. It is thought the object will be to make a through connection to Atlanta, Mobile and New Orleans, and thus cut Richmond off to a great extent. To effect this a change of gauge over the Piedmont line would be necessary, and it is thought this could be forced under the original charter. Richmond thus finds itself between two fires, and may be compelled to yield to a change of the gauge from Richmond to Danville in order to prevent the Baltimore and Ohio road doing it material damage. The Virginia Legislature has not yet acted upon the measure.

THE following may be taken as the history of the present Arkansas imbroglio in a nut shell. As to the present status of the case our readers have been informed by telegraphic reports from Little Rock:

"One Joseph Brooks, Dem., claims to have been elected Governor in 1872, and instituted a suit in a circuit court to gain possession of the office. In the meantime the Attorney General of the State brought suit against Governor Baxter, Rep., who was in possession of the office, and the Supreme Court of the State decided that it had no jurisdiction over a contested election case of that character. The Legislature in 1873 opened the returns and declared Baxter to be elected. Meanwhile a demurrer to the jurisdiction of the higher court was entered in the circuit court, and a few days ago, in the absence of the counsel of Gov. Baxter, the Judge overruled the demurrer and issued a judgment of ouster. A writ was placed in the hands of the sheriff, and Brooks with an armed band forced his way into the Governor's office and ejected him. The party also broke into the State Armory and seized about one hundred stand of arms, whereupon Gov. Baxter telegraphed to President Grant, asking that the commander of the United States Arsenal be directed to sustain him, and Brooks telegraphed the President to give him possession of the Arsenal. To both of these appeals the President replies in the negative, and refuses to have anything to do in the controversy as it now stands, referring the parties to the proper action of the courts.

THE New York Herald, which lately saw so much wrong and injustice in the governments of Louisiana and South Carolina, so much injustice done the people of those States by the mongrel crews that controlled their affairs, that it could be honest enough to bespeak Congress in their behalf, has recently grown virtuously indignant at the vote cast by the Southern States upon the financial measures before Congress, and now "doesn't care a fig" for the "rebels of the South"—is perfectly willing to see them ground to the dust because their representatives voted for a measure which they thought would benefit their sections, but which may not have been in accord with the wishes of the bloated bondholders of Wall street. The Herald cannot see how the South can be other than a time-server for those who conquered us in 1865—so long as we cater to the wishes of those who control the purse-strings of the government we can be let alone, but any act of ours that looks to the benefit of the South is a measure of open rebellion, and the government is at once called upon to put its foot upon the terrible monster which was thought to have been killed at Appomattox Courthouse. Will the fanatics of the North never recognize the fact that the Southern people possess that which they possibly lack—that honesty of purpose which will enable them to do what ever they may have promised, no matter at what sacrifice; that the surrender of the South to superior force was an honest one, and that whenever we seek to better our condition we are not again raising that battle-cry which so often struck terror to them in whom the Herald would thus seek to arouse bitter feeling, against us. A greater piece of spiteful malignity we have never seen emanating from a Northern pen, and we trust the Herald will see its folly so far as to retract this foolish attack.

For sixty successive years Windham county, Connecticut, has sent an anti-Democratic Senator to the Legislature of that State. At the last election she elected a Democrat, indicating the disgust of her people at the corruption and misrule of the "powers that be" at Washington.

The Wilmington Journal, after passing a most handsome compliment to Col. STEPHEN D. POOL, our candidate for Superintendent of Public Works, says:

"In presenting such a man for such a position the Conservative-Democratic party has given another pledge to the people of the State that it has their interests at heart, and affords a striking contrast to the Radical party in presenting for the same important office an untitled young man, young Mr. FURNELL, whose brief span of life since attaining manhood, has afforded him little or no opportunity to show his fitness for the position. Mr. FURNELL may or may not be a young man of parts, but whether he is or not, is a question that we think the people of North Carolina will agree with us in saying, ought not to be settled in the office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

"With our nominee no such difficulty occurs, and we therefore present Colonel STEPHEN D. POOL with pride and confidence as our party candidate for the suffrages of the voters of North Carolina."

A writer in the New York Graphic intimates that Livingston's long stay in Africa and his frequent disappearances, was owing to the fact that he was insane. He thinks that his late unsatisfactory account of his travels demonstrate such a state of mind.

"Hi! where did you get them trousers?" asked an Irishman of a man who happened to be passing with a pair of remarkably short trousers on. "I got them where they grew," was the indignant reply. "Then, by my conscience," said Paddy, "you've pulled them a year too soon."

A Biddeford, Maine, girl, about ten years old, got hold of a pistol the other day and deliberately discharged it at a child two years old; the ball entered the upper part of the child's forehead and came out at the back of the child's head, but he may recover.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher has been voted six months' leave of absence, to be spent abroad or at home, his congregation to pay all traveling expenses.

An Ottawa, Ill., German died a few days ago from having swallowed a piece of cotton saturated with creosote, which he had in his mouth to stop the toothache.

The divorced wife of the late Senator Sumner has filed a petition to resume her maiden name, Alice Mason.

Way the Louisiana levees of the Mississippi are in their present condition the New York World makes plain, through a correspondent at New Orleans. Under the circumstances it is not strange that whole districts are flooded, valuable lands lost, and much property swept away. The Radicals in Louisiana got up a levee ring; a corporation was formed to reclaim and protect from overflow the alluvial lands of the State. The Legislature at once gave this company control of the levees of the State, with the privilege of taxing the thirteen millions of acres liable to overflow five per cent. The income of the company is about six hundred thousand dollars annually. On the lands or real estate situated within the limits of all the towns and cities in the districts subject to overflow, including the city of New Orleans, an annual tax of 1 1/2 per cent. is levied. The revenue from this source is over one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. In all, the company has received over three million dollars, and has not expended one hundred thousand on the levees. The present Spring flood came, the levees gave way, and the papers daily report the immense damage done. So much for another Radical scheme of plunder.

New Jersey joins New York and Connecticut in pushing on the Democratic column. The latest returns from the town elections indicate sweeping Democratic gains throughout the State. The close contest of Morris and Union, the city of Rahway and the towns of Belleville, Newton and Holland all elect Democratic officers. In the county of Sussex the Board of Freeholders is composed of twenty-six Democrats, two Liberals and no Republicans.

An interesting discovery has been made at Beddingford, in Kent, England. Some workmen employed in digging gravel found the remains of a Roman warrior, who had evidently been buried in his armor, together with some arms. Some time ago the remains of a Roman villa were found in the same neighborhood, and a quantity of coins, Roman and British.

A complete and entire change has taken place this year in the political complexion of the towns in New York. Compared with 1873 the result is as follows: 1873, Republican majority of towns, 72; 1874, Democratic majority of towns, 92. Democratic gain over 1873, 164. This looks encouraging for the future.

The unexampled success of this renowned manure during many years, has for a reputation which few other fertilizers can claim. Its sales are very extensive. In all largely grown, so decided and positive have been its results on these important staples, that in many sections it is preferred to all other manures.

prompt and active in its effects. It starts the young plant vigorously, and by furnishing a steady supply of nutriment during the period of its growth, brings the crop to a healthy maturity in time to escape the ravages of early frosts.

We offer this well known fertilizer to our friends, confident that they will concur in the opinion of the leading planters of the South, that for Cotton and Corn it is un-

SUNDAY NIGHT'S TELEGRAMS.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Relief Grant—Report of the Select Committee on Transportation and Water Routes—The Signal Service and its Branches, etc.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The President will not tell what he is going to do about the currency bill.

The Senate Select Committee on Transportation and Water Routes, which last night agreed to the report prepared by the Chairman, Senator Windham, of Minnesota. The report is elaborate, embracing a large mass of statistical matter not before collected, and contains a discussion of the alleged defects and abuses of the existing systems of transportation, and also the proposed remedies in detail. The remedies discussed are included under four general subdivisions, namely: First, Competition between railroads. Second, Direct Congressional regulation of rates and fares. Third, The ownership and control of one or more freight railroads by the general government. Fourth, The improvement and creation of water routes.

Each of these subjects is fully discussed, and the conclusion generally is in favor of improved water routes. Several specific recommendations are made, but these are withheld by the Committee until the report shall be made on Wednesday or Thursday next.

The Committee are not unanimous on the measures of legislation they propose with reference to railroads, but are on their recommendation as to water courses. The constitutional questions are fully discussed. Senator Windham will, after making the report, fully epitomize and explain its contents.

The signal service has been doing a good work recently in connection with the present overflow of the lower Mississippi, by announcing several days in advance the approach of each of the great floods that have successively moved from Cairo to New Orleans since the last last, sweeping away in their resistless course vital portions of the country, and causing great loss of life and property.

Special warnings were telegraphed to the threatened points, and ample time given for such action by the inhabitants as their judgment and knowledge of the danger seemed to justify. The system of reports established by the Chief Signal Officer two years ago, by which each important city on the principal western rivers is notified daily of the stage of water at the other river towns with which it has business connections, has grown steadily in favor and popularity, by furnishing to all interested parties regular and reliable data for their guidance in making shipments. Sufficient experience appears to have been already obtained by the Signal Office to justify it in issuing river probabilities and "warnings," which will doubtless prove as beneficial to the river interests as the weather probabilities and caution signals have been to the commerce of the sea.

The opposition to the tax-payer's movement is strong, and the counter-movements here are well organized. The information and impressions are not of a nature to inspire a hope of the official recognition of the existing troubles in South Carolina.

"WHEREAS, The great need of this country is some well devised and sure system of cheap transportation by water, which will give not only cheap rates to the interior to the sea, but the means of a free interchange of products between the States—a system which is needed by the whole country and being demanded by the people of all sections; therefore be it Resolved, That the Committee on Railroads and Canals be instructed to prepare and report a bill for the improvement of the great national water highways of the country, and their construction by such artificial channels as will give to our people the cheap transportation which they demand, and that the 14th day of May be set apart for the consideration of this subject to the exclusion of all other business and orders, and each day thereafter until it is disposed of."

On the motion to suspend the rules to vote on the adoption of the resolution, the yeas were 120, nays 74. One Southern Democrat, Mr. Whithorn, of Tennessee, voted "no." One Western Democrat, Mr. Holman, also voted "no," and S. S. Cox, of New York.
